MONTH OF WEDDING DAY MANAGEMENT

The couple who hires us for month-of wedding management is knocking out their wedding planning checklist or prepared to. They're scheduling appointments with vendors, signing contracts, piecing together their wedding design, and despite work demands or social commitments, they're prepared to carve out time to plan their own wedding. BUT, the last thing they want to do on their wedding day is pass out timelines to vendors, check centerpieces, find missing members of the bridal party for pictures, or worry about an unforeseen emergency (like the wedding cake falling over). They want to be emotionally and mentally present on their wedding day and don't want to be the go-to for all questions when they're trying to get ready or relax with their bridal party.

With the month of package, six weeks leading up to your wedding, we make contact with vendors to ensure everyone is on the same page, help you finalize any last minute details, and take the baton. We manage the day-of coordination, including setup and strike.

PARTIAL SERVICE PLANNING

The couple who hires us for partial service planning may have already booked a vendor or two, might be six months into the planning process, or might be prepared to do some of the planning on their own, but don't want their entire engagement consumed with wedding planning to-dos. This couple usually has work demands, a career their building, an active social life, and determines they don't want to drop the ball in other areas or be so consumed with stress that they forget they're supposed to be enjoying their engagement.

With the partial service planning package, we help you schedule meetings and book some of your vendors, create a floor plan and timeline, arrange the hotel and transportation, and provide complete wedding day management. We partner with you to create time in your schedule and tackle your planning checklist, so you can enjoy the once-in-a-lifetime moment you're in.

FULL SERVICE PLANNING & EVENT DESIGN

The couple who hires us for full planning service knows they're already busy and in high demand with work, hobbies, and other activities. They want to spend their engagement sipping drinks with their love while dreaming about the future. They want to keep pressing for that promotion rather than trying to get ahold of vendors during their work hours. They want to experience the calm reassurance that comes from knowing they're going to have the wedding of their dreams, but they don't have to plan it. They're in complete control of decision making, cast their wedding vision, and we step in to do the heavy lifting and planning, so they can carry on with life as usual, but better because... THEY'RE ENGAGED!

With the full service planning package, we schedule vendor appointments, review contracts, manage your wedding budget, arrange the hotel and transportation, liaise with vendors and the venue throughout the process, create the floorplan and timeline, and more. We partner with you through the entire planning process, giving you access to our online planning portal to stay up-to-speed and more.
